Players filling in for teams in lower grades other than the grade they are allocated too, will be treated as unregistered and penalty will be per By-Law 1.6

E.g., if a player is allocated in D grade and plays a total of 6 games in any higher grades, s/he then becomes allocated to the next higher grade, 'C res' grade, and can no longer play 'D' grade for the remainder of the season. This same player can continue to play in higher grades, other than 'C res' grade, but once s/he plays a total of 6 games in any higher grades, s/he then becomes allocated to 'C' grade and can no longer play 'C res' grade for remainder of the season. The player is still permitted to continue to play in higher grades.

4.6 Game Limit per Week and per Night

In regard to junior players being elevated to senior finals whilst still involved in the junior finals' series, this is permissible, as long as they meet the requirements of all other By- Laws. Eligible Junior Division 1 players can only be elevated to Senior A or B Grade finals.

Senior players who have been eliminated from finals may be elevated to play in masters finals to make up to five (5) players, as long as they meet the age criteria to play masters and they have qualified in their respective grade.

If a player, having played 5 games in a higher age group, continues to play in a higher age team to which the player is not allocated too, the player will be treated as unregistered and penalty per By-Law 1.6 will apply to that team.

4.10 Registering of Players to a Second Junior Team

A player may register in a second team which is higher in age (e.g.: Under 14 may play Under 16) but the player must also be allocated to the second team by their club prior to round 6 of the season proper. A club must seek approval from the JDC and grading committee to allow a player to be allocated to a second team after round 3 of the season proper. All other restrictions and terms of eligibility apply to this player. Players playing up an age group must not play in a division more than one level below the division they play in regularly (E.g.: An Under 14 Division 1 player must not play in any team below Under 16 Division 2). A club may seek an exemption from the JDC and grading committee for a player to be allowed to play in a division more than one level below the division they play in regularly. The Sin Bin is not necessarily a specified place; it just means that the coach/player/bench person is required to leave the court (or move down the bench) for 5 minutes. Timing of the 5 minutes can be done by bench personnel (or any other means acceptable to the SBA).

A player who is sent to the Sin Bin can be substituted.

The coach/bench person who is sent to the Sin Bin must move to the end of the bench area and cannot communicate with team members while they are there.

A second similar offence by the same player/bench person results in the person being disqualified from the game. (A 'similar' offence involves more criticism, dissent etc. resulting in a second Technical Foul)

If a game is played in halves, the game time must be reduced by 2 minutes per half with 1 team timeout per half. The referee must call an additional compulsory timeout close to the halfway mark in each half, the clock stops for this timeout. One team must call a timeout before the compulsory timeout and the other team after the compulsory timeout. In the event the coaches do not call a timeout as required, the referees will intervene and call a timeout and attribute them to the respective teams.

All other domestic timing rules apply.

- (b) When the on-court temperature is measured at being at or above 38°C at a venue, all games will be cancelled at that venue for the remainder of the day.

The SBA preference is based on what it perceives to be the development of the embryo and the possible risk during pregnancy. The SBA does not wish to and will not discriminate against a player based on her pregnancy. The SBA would request a player who is pregnant to seek medical opinion and advice as to her level of involvement in playing and training. No Zone Policy and Procedures

SBA NO ZONE POLICY

At the 2015 Presidents and Secretaries meeting, the SBA informed all clubs of their intention to implement the Basketball Australia “No Zone” policy. The SBA has followed the lead of Basketball Australia, Basketball Victoria and the Victorian Junior Basketball League (VJBL) by banning Zone defence at the Under 12 and 14 age group in ALL grades and competitions.

The SBA hopes to encourage all coaches to teach their players better Man to Man principles at both the Defensive and Offensive ends, which will ultimately create a higher standard of basketball for the future of the association. This policy will be in effect from the start of the 2016 winter season.

Zone defence hurts the game. It hurts the development of junior players. It allows some coaches to choose not to teach defensive principles – therefore not developing players.

There is general acceptance that the constant use of zone defences in the younger age groups adversely affects the development of both defensive and offensive skills in younger athletes. Basketball Australia has introduced a rule banning the use of Zone defences at national level and has called upon all state bodies to assist with the implementation of this policy right throughout Australia.

A Zone defence, for the purpose of this ban is defined as; any defence played in the half court, which does not incorporate normal man to-man defensive principles shall be considered to be a Zone. For this purpose trapping principles, which rotate back to man defensive principles shall be accepted.

Here are three reasons for eliminating zone defence from junior basketball.

1. Zone defence doesn't teach good defensive habits

In junior basketball there are usually one or two strong players on a team. A zone defence should be one player guarding the ball and four players helping guard the ball. However, in youth basketball, zone defence turns into one player jumping out of position and going for steals while their teammates stand and watch that happen. The other four players end up standing still, upright, plugging the lane and ignoring the other four offensive players who aren't skilled enough to shoot from outside the three point line yet.

Most junior players have yet to develop a strong skill set, let alone the physical strength to execute those skills. Therefore most junior coaches and their teams tend to default into a zone in order to get cheap wins against teams that are playing with a three-point line that is too far out for the age and skill level of the athlete. A zone defence does not demand the individuals in the zone to continually give effort or learn sound defensive principles.

The poor habits zone defences in youth basketball tend to promote are:

1. Lazy on ball defence
2. Standing and watching off ball
3. Poor closeout technique
4. Little accountability
5. Lack of communication

6. Minimal movement on defence
7. Fewer opportunities to guard different positions and areas of the floor
8. Fewer opportunities to practice communication in defensive transition
9. Fewer opportunities to practice decision making in defensive transition
10. Reduced accountability on box outs
11. Fewer decisions while playing help defence
12. Decreased repetitions of defensive rotations
13. Fewer opportunities to learn what is acceptable defensive risk taking
14. Minimal opportunities to guard screens
15. Fewer opportunities for bigger players to guard the ball

Each of the above reasons not to play zone are also many of the same reasons some coaches choose TO play zone. Some coaches want to hide weak players rather than developing them. Some decide to remove decisions from players, which allow them to get away with poor habits. Instead of teaching players good habits, some coaches choose to play a defence that allows them to be successful (i.e. wins) without first building these key habits.

2. Zone defence doesn't prepare athletes for long-term success.

At the highest level of play, with the most skilled players on the floor, you see the least amount of zone defence.

Zones work better against less talented players. That's why many coaches choose to use them. If you are a coach that plays a zone to win, or a coach who finds way to disguise their zones to look like a man to man. Remember this:

“Junior basketball should be about developing players for life long success, not winning meaningless games played in front of a few parents.”

Every zone that is played at a high level and works well is based on man concepts. It is built with VERY GOOD individual defenders.

Each successful zone is based on active, communicating defenders who understand the positioning, movement, vision, decision making and on ball habits developed from years of training. Well played zones are based on man principles. Man principles, taught first, create good zone defence. Every good coach will tell you that the toughest zone to play against is a well-taught matchup zone with players who have sound defensive habits like the ones listed above.

3. Zone defence robs the opponent of the opportunity for offensive development.

Many coaches do not consider this point. Choosing to play a zone defence at the junior level is incredibly selfish and short-sighted. Be good to the game.

When a coach chooses to play zone against a junior team, who again, can't shoot well from the three point line, has few experienced players and lacks the physical strength to make the long hard passes needed to punish a zone, they rob that team of an opportunity to develop offensively.

A zone defence will lead to the offensive team standing around and watching the one or two good offensive players over-dribble and attempt tough shots against multiple defenders. This creates bad habits for the offensive players - most of the team standing and watching the good players forcing bad shots. The weaker players will touch the ball less, get fewer opportunities to move and lose the joy of the game as they fail to make the shots they are forced to take that are well outside their effective range.

There will be many coaches that will read this and immediately begin to justify why their zone is actually good for their players or come up with excuses/reason as to why they play zone.

Common things coaches say “it’s not a zone it’s a lazy man” or “it’s not a zone, the player is just sagging off”. It is the duty of a coach to teach players how to play a man, not make excuses for poor defensive principles.

Please consider ways to teach players to be great, think about your long term impact in the game, think about your legacy as a coach to the sport and development of your players, DO NOT just find a reason to justify why playing a zone is OK.

We can do better. We can do this by changing the rules. One simple change. Protect the game, be better, teach more and DON'T PLAY A ZONE.

“In 10 years’ time you won’t remember how many games you won in a domestic season. You will remember how many players you developed who went on to play at the next level.*”

- SBA and BV members to capture the likeness of yourself/your child for the purposes outlined in BV's Photography Policy.
- SBA appointed representative/s to capture and reproduce the likeness of yourself/your child (photo, video, etc.) in promotional materials or publications.

Basketball Victoria–Photography and Filming Policy

Basketball Victoria recognises that there are many legitimate reasons why photography and filming at sports is very common and does not wish to unnecessarily restrict or curb the creation of that content.

Basketball Victoria wants to ensure that it and its Affiliated Associations, Clubs and accredited organisations and agents take reasonable steps to ascertain that photographic and filmed depictions of basketball activities are being used for legitimate and harmless purposes.

Having a video record of a game is useful if there is a reportable incident during the game. The video can be used in evidence. At more senior levels, the competition organisers have made it compulsory for games to be taped for precisely this reason. In addition, the knowledge that a game is being taped may act as a deterrent to bad behaviour because players will know they may be captured on tape, even if a referee does not see the misdeed.

PARENTS, GUARDIANS AND FAMILY

It is perfectly normal and acceptable for parents, guardians or family members to want to film or photograph their children's sports to keep as a memento of them growing up and share that content via social media or other channels of distribution.

Associations and leagues should usually allow parents, guardians or family members to take photographs and video tape games or training, provided the parents, guardians or family members are known to the association. As a courtesy, the coach or manager of the opposition team should also be notified of the intention to photograph or video the game.

COACHES AND REFEREE COACHES

Coaches are allowed to film their team's games to assist them in training. Coaches are also allowed to film for the purposes of scouting another team that will be playing the filming team shortly. If this is to occur then both teams should be advised in advance. However, this should usually be allowed.

Coaches who wish to video their own team's games or training for training purposes should also normally be allowed to do so. Again, the opposition should be informed. Parents of the coach's own team should be advised by the coach if it is intended to regularly video games or training and the reason for it.

Referee coaches wishing to video games for training or evaluation purposes should advise the teams of their intentions prior to the game.

Should any person take objection to the photographing or filming, they should be asked the reason why they object. It should be explained to them that the Basketball Victoria Photography/Filming Policy permits the creation of content for organisational and individual use. However, if the person objecting has a legitimate and strong reason why the objection is made, then a bar should be placed on that content. A strong reason may include a child- safety exemption whereby the child concerned is the subject of contested custody proceedings or has been the subject of violence or threats and publication of a video or photograph may compromise the safety of the child. This means that competition organisers, associations and clubs have to be ever-vigilant in protecting participants, particularly children, and alert media on site to any reasons to not take imagery or footage.

MEDIA ORGANISATIONS AND ACCREDITATION

Basketball Victoria approves media accreditation from news organisations, websites and social media companies that have been approved with an up-to- date Working With Children's Check (WWCC) and reference from their organisation. These organisations have been approved by Basketball Victoria and have a right to take video and photography at sanctioned events, competitions and programs.

Accredited media are listed on the Basketball Victoria website (link) to provide associations and individuals with a verified list of media to permit into venues and allow to film or photograph games.

They are required to wear their Basketball Victoria Media Accreditation at all times while present within venues and have to wear a high-visibility vest in order to film or take photography on the baseline at Basketball Victoria events.

Accredited media are exempt from notifying the coach or manager of the teams due to the nature of their profession. Basketball Victoria's venues are considered public spaces and as such media are entitled to produce content in these spaces for editorial or non-advertising purposes and not for any other commercial purpose whatsoever.
